Programs and Events

► Students who face barriers to education and training – such as physical or learning disabilities – are being supported with a range of programs being developed by individual public post-secondary institutions throughout BC. The Province is providing one-time, targeted investments of $75,000 for 20 public post-secondary institutions. In addition, Vancouver Community College (VCC) has received $275,000 to develop programs and supports for students with disabilities.

► A new report from the Information and Communications Council (ICTC), Digital Talent: Road to 2020 and Beyond, estimates that the demand for jobs in the information and communication technology sector will rise significantly by 2019. "The growth in digital jobs has outpaced the overall economy in the last two years by over 4 to 1, leading to a strong demand of 182,000 skilled ICT workers by 2019. Unfortunately, the domestic supply of ICT graduates and workers will be insufficient to meet this demand." <http://www.ictc-tic.ca/digital-talent-strategy/>
